The noise of splashing youngsters returned to the Aquatic pool Friday. The swimming pool opened Friday for the summer months. These youngsters were obviously celebrating but whether their celebrations were for the opening of the pool or for the closing of school isn't clear. They'll have ample opportunity to continue their celebration because public swimming is scheduled daily until school re-opens. Swim classes began at the pool today.

Regional District Concept Catching On: Minister

Regional districts in B.C. are going ahead much faster than the government originally expected they would, the minister of municipal affairs said today.

Dan Campbell said in an interview here almost 20 regional districts are formed or are close to being formed.

Mr. Campbell will discuss the proposed regional district for this area tonight at a meeting of the Westbank and District Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting, which is open to the public, begins at 7:30 p.m. in the Westbank Community Hall.

Mr. Campbell said 14 regional districts have been formed, and four or five more are under study.

CAN'T HURRY

His department however cannot "push" the districts forward.

"We don't make recommendations until the local study committee is ready to go ahead with the district. Our recommendation, when it comes, amounts to giving back to an area the conclusions of its own study," he said.

Because an area can opt out of the regional district, it is useless for the municipal affairs department to recommend a district be formed until agreement has been reached on the local level, Mr. Campbell said.

The department has received few complaints about regional districts, he said. The complaints the department has dealt with are "mostly due to a lack of understanding of regional districts", he said.

TWO YEARS

Mr. Campbell, whose riding is Comox, has been minister of municipal affairs for two years. His department is responsible for all the financial watchdogging on municipal governments. It also checks the processing of municipal bylaws for content and procedure and it is an information centre, offering help and advice to municipalities. Through the department of finance, it is responsible for urban renewal.

Air pollution is another of Mr. Campbell's responsibilities. He is on a cabinet sub-committee which started an air pollution study this spring.

The committee is ready to make a report to the cabinet, Mr. Campbell said. The report will include recommended industrial controls.

"All over the province," Mr. Campbell said, "air pollution is either a problem now or it will be soon."

Barrientos In Military Out

LA PAZ (AP)—Bolivians have swept former armed forces chief Rene Barrientos in as president, replacing the military junta which has ruled the country for 19 months.

Barrientos was piling up a margin of more than two to one over his combined opposition. Returns today from the national electoral court gave Barrientos 64,000 votes to 22,000 for his four opponents.

130 Killed In Canada At Weekend

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

At least 130 persons died accidentally across Canada during the Dominion Day weekend—the second worst three-day holiday weekend toll on record.

The highest fatality total—172 deaths—was recorded during the 1963 Dominion Day weekend, the last one that stretched over 78 hours.

This weekend's total included 67 highway deaths, well below the 85 predicted by the Canadian Highway Safety Council.

A Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. Thursday to midnight Sunday, local times, also listed 55 drownings, one fire death and seven other types of accidental deaths.

This weekend's toll soared ahead of the 129 deaths reported during the 1966 three-day Victoria Day holiday in May. There were 80 road deaths then compared with 85 at Dominion Day, 1963.

Beatles Snub President's Lady

MANILA (AP)—Filipinos chafed at an indignant no-no to the yeh-yeh boys from Liverpool today after the Beatles missed a date with the Glorious first lady of The Philippines.

"Beatles snub first family" and "mopheads slept while Imelda waited" said the headlines in Manila newspapers. The quartet did not make an appearance before Imelda Marcos, wife of President Ferdinand Marcos, their three youngsters and 300 other children of high government officials.

After waiting more than an hour in a chandelied hall of the presidential palace, Mrs. Marcos said: "As much as I would like to meet them I could not wait this long. My children have all the time in the world but I don't."

FASTEST MOUTH IN THE WEST THWARTS WOULD-BE ASSASSIN

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—A man fought a bullet fired from a small-calibre pistol between his teeth, police reported today.

Police said David Wilhight, 32, answered a knock on his door Sunday night and found a man there who told him, "I'm going to kill you."

Wilhight slammed the door just as the man fired and the bullet went through the wooden door into his mouth, police said.

Wilhight spat the bullet out, officers said, and was treated for minor injury in hospital.

BBG Freedom Urged By Gov't

OTTAWA (CP)—A strengthening of Board of Broadcast Governors with increased authority over the CBC and private broadcasting was proposed Monday in a government white paper tabled in the Commons.

The 4,850-word paper, tabled by State Secretary Judy LaMarsh, says the government will propose legislation to increase the full-time membership of the board to five from three and give it full authority to issue licences without reference, as at present, to the cabinet.

The legislation will also re-empower the CBC's hierarchy, splitting the functions at present held by the president by appointing a chief executive officer responsible for all operations of the corporation. This officer will be responsible to the board, whose chairman is also to be the president.

REJECT PROPOSALS

The government rejected recommendations in the Fowler committee report on broadcasting that a new regulatory agency be set up to run all broadcasting, including managing the CBC.

But the paper said the legislation will make it clear that the corporation will be subject to the BBG's regulatory powers in all matters affecting general broadcasting policy.

In the past, the paper said, the CBC's responsibility to operate a national broadcasting service has been left largely to the corporation.

Now the corporation will be required to comply with specific directions by the board in cases of breach of regulations or failure to comply with the conditions of a licence.

The government proposes a new five-year financing policy for the corporation, maintenance of advertising revenues at their present ratio to the Canadian advertising market and retention of headquarters in Ottawa.

However, the paper said control of programming and operations should be shifted to the main production centres—Montreal for the French network and Toronto for the English—with headquarters staff reduced to "minimum size" needed for effective general direction.

The paper says the BBG will have full power to issue broadcasting licences, subject only to technical evaluation and certification by the department of transport and "to any formal direction that may have been issued under the new act relating to the structure of the system."

WILL ABOLISH SYSTEM

The present system of sending recommendations on applications to the federal cabinet will be abolished, but there will be provision for formal appeals to the cabinet against board decisions.

The board is to set broadcasting standards on an individual basis, taking account of the economic conditions in local markets and the past performance of stations when judging applications.

Desperate Measures Taken Damage Could Be Severe

Okanagan orchardists are using every means at their disposal today to counteract the effect of weekend rain on the cherry crop.

Splitting has occurred in orchards from Kaleden north. South of that area most of the crop has been harvested.

Damage is reported heavy on some trees, and light on others. The damage will not be assessed for the next day or two officials say.

Frank Morton, Kelowna district horticulturist, says no survey has been made of orchards in the Kelowna area but he suspects the damage could be "severe."

Growers are using blowers on sprayers to dry up the orchards. Philip Workman, who has a potential crop of 120 tons in Naramata, is using a helicopter today to blow the water off the trees. Others are standing helplessly by praying for wind.

STILL GOING ON

It is difficult to estimate the extent of the splitting because it is continuing hourly. Some orchardists report removing the cherries intact from the trees only to see them split later.

Nigel Pooley, who has 30 acres of cherries in East Kelowna, said today "fairly heavy" damage has occurred on cherries of any size, Lamberts as well as Bings, but that cherries which are not mature appear intact. He said he could not possibly tell so soon what percentage of the crop was damaged.

He said the fruit that was effected was badly split and would be a complete loss, not downgraded. He said a wind would help as splitting is still going on.

WHAT HAPPENS

When rain hits a fully-sized cherry the skin absorbs the moisture which mixes with the sugar in the fruit to cause swelling and splitting. Slight splitting downgrades the fruit from

STRICKEN FRUIT ... the result

No. 1 variety to orchard run, but officials say wide open splits are a complete loss.

Maurice Trumppour, district horticulturist in Penticton, said today he visited three or four orchards east of Penticton early this morning and wide open splits had occurred where the sun hit the trees.

He said the trees are not completely dried out yet and more splitting would occur. He could not say how extensive the damage would be.

OUTRIGHT LOSS

W. J. R. Green, advertising information manager at B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., said initial reports indicate heavy damage in some areas and lighter in others. He said this would result in downgrading of fruit for some and outright losses for others.

Mrs. R. B. Stocks of Kaleden said some splitting has occurred on their five acres of young trees but the extent of the damage was not known. Their crop estimate was for 25 tons and they are using a blower to dry the trees.

North Viet Nam Raids Go On Infantrymen Engage Viet Cong

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. fighter-bombers again struck at North Viet Nam's strategic fuel reserves 12 miles southeast of Hanoi.

The jets returned to the north's major port Sunday while China warned it considered itself free from "any bounds or restrictions" on aiding the North Vietnamese since last week's U.S. strikes near Hanoi and Haiphong.

The raid on the Do Son oil storage area was a repetition of a strike there last Wednesday. On that day U.S. planes also pounded a storage area three miles from the North Vietnamese capital and unloading and storage facilities two miles from Haiphong.

The Peking statement said the air attacks had brought the war to "a new and still graver stage" but did not say what if any new aid the Chinese would give.

As U.S. planes ranged over the north, a company of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division fought two guerrilla battles with Viet Cong guerrillas a few miles from the Cambodian border in South Viet Nam. Simultaneously, the Viet Cong harassed a nearby U.S. special forces camp near Trail BI.

A spokesman described U.S. casualties as moderate. Viet Cong losses were not immediately determined.

China Charges More Aggression Sees U.S. March Into Laos

TOKYO (AP)—China, on the heels of a veiled threat to increase aid to North Viet Nam, charged today that the United States planned to send ground forces into Laos.

Peking radio coupled the accusation with a fresh outburst of invective following the U.S. air raids on fuel depots near Hanoi and Haiphong last Wednesday.

The Chinese foreign ministry charged the United States with "making active preparations for sending its ground forces into Laos." At the instigation of the United States, military personnel of Thailand and South Viet Nam have successfully infiltrated into the areas of central and lower Laos.

Just as in the denunciations of the U.S. air attacks, the Peking statement did not say what if anything the Chinese would do to meet the alleged American challenge.

A government statement said Sunday that last Wednesday's U.S. bombings "now has freed us from any bounds or restrictions" in supporting the North Vietnamese regime.

Secret Police Purge Continues While Belgrade Fights For Unity

BELGRADE (AP)—Yugoslavia's Communist hierarchy is pressing on with its purge of secret police ranks, sought today to maintain unity within the party.

Informed sources said the purge of police officials was continuing and could prove extensive.

Meanwhile, urgent party meetings were called throughout Yugoslavia to explain the move to members.

Leaders were expected to give a full account of the dramatic session of the central committee at Belgrade last Friday when President Tito charged that a power-seeking element in the secret police was endangering both state and party.

The climax came when the committee ousted Tito's chief aide, Alexander Rankovic, from his official post in the party and ordered him to resign as vice-president.

Sources said the crackdown on police officials coincided with the ouster of Rankovic, who dominated the police for two decades.

There has been no disclosure of the number of officers involved, but sources said it could be large because of Rankovic's big following.

ACTION VARIES

The forms of discipline involved in the purge are said to include outright ouster from party or party transfers to lower ranking positions, and official party reprimands.

The warden spoke to the men shortly after midnight and again this morning, but said there was no indication they were ready to return.

MISS SMIRNOFF DISINTEGRATES . . .

Once Again, Death Takes The Wheel

Veteran speedboat driver Chuck Thompson was killed when his hydroplane Miss Smirnoff disintegrated at better than 100 miles an hour in Sunday's Gold Cup race at Detroit.

The 32-year-old Detroit became the fourth driver to die in hydroplane racing in two weeks and the tragedy resulted in the Gold Cup's postponement.

Many of the estimated 300,000 spectators who thronged to the Detroit River saw the mishap and screamed as pieces of Thompson's boat flew 100 feet into the air.

Referee Bill Newton promptly ruled the race no contest. Thompson, who had won two preliminary heats, was just roaring off to his third when the accident occurred. He was only 100 yards past the starting line when his boat flew apart.

Two hours after the accident, the Gold Cup Committee, and boat owners and drivers held a meeting and voted to re-race the race today with the third heat.

NO PROVISION

"The original decision to cancel the race was made in haste," said American Power Boat President, James Host. Host said "on examination of the rules we find there was no provision for such a cancellation and the race will go on."

Three drivers were killed June 19 in the President's Cup Race on the Potomac River in Washington. They were Rex Manchester, Ron Musson and Don Wilson.

A U.S. Coast Guard helicopter that had been hovering over the three-mile course dipped low and its crew pulled Thompson from the river within two minutes of the crash.

He died a short time later at a Detroit hospital. First reports at the hospital said he was unconscious, in deep shock and apparently had suffered a crushed chest, a severe thigh fracture and deep leg lacerations.

Thompson and Mira Slovak, who had taken two heats in Tahoe Miss were expected to wage a head-and-head battle in the third heat. Luck of the draw had separated them in the other two heats of five laps each, around the three-mile course.

Thompson's accident was the third of the day in Detroit.

Pre-race favorite Bill Muncy, of Seattle, had a narrow escape in the opening heat when his boat Miss U.S. ran into some choppy water, throwing him against the steering wheel which was said to have bent like a pretzel.

The impact tossed Muncy on to the deck of the boat, and he was thrown back into the pilot's seat by a big wave. A steel corset saved Muncy from serious injury.

Muncy finished the heat but he and his boat did not race again the same day.

Bill Strett, driver of Miss Chrysler Crew, was tossed from his boat on the first lap of the third heat but escaped with minor injuries. Coast Guard patrol boats extinguished a fire that broke out on Strett's boat.

RACE GOES ON

In Kelowna officials of the Kelowna Boat Racing Association said the British Columbia Cup unlimited hydroplane race will proceed as scheduled July 13-17 in spite of the death of Thompson.

The British Columbia Cup is the next major hydroplane race in North America and will be followed by the Atomic Cup races in Pasco, Wash. Drivers and boats leave Detroit Tuesday for the long journey to Kelowna.

ANNETTE BUCHANAN APPEALS

Annette Buchanan appears to wipe a tear from her eye as she leaves Lane County Courthouse at Eugene, Ore., after being found guilty of contempt charges and being fined $300 by Circuit Judge Edward Leavy. Left, is her lawyer Arthur Johnson and walking in the rear is Phil Semas, editor of the Oregon

Daily Emerald. Miss Buchanan said she would appeal the fine. She was fined because she refused to reveal the source of her information in a story on drug-taking.

Communist Block Nations Meet For Pact Parley

BUCHAREST, Romania (Reuters)—A seven-nation conference of East European military and Communist party leaders starts here today with the West looking on for signs of a move to relax tension in Europe.

The meeting, ostensibly of the political consultative committee of the Warsaw Pact, has brought Russia's party chief, Leonid Brezhnev, and Premier Alexei Kosygin together with their counterparts from Romania, Poland, East Germany, Hungary, Bulgaria and Czechoslovakia.

But although the agenda was likely to deal mainly with Communist unity and East-West relations, there was no confirmation of this. The 11-year-old Warsaw Pact is the Communist world's answer to NATO.

The first Warsaw Pact summit meeting in 18 months excited strong Western interest.

But official Romanian sources said Sunday night it was doubtful if any official information other than the final communiqué would be made available.

HOLD TALKS
The Soviet leaders, Romania's party chief, Nicolae Ceausescu, and the Polish delegation led by Wladyslaw Gomulka were reported to have had pre-summit talks Sunday.

East Germany's delegation, led by Walter Ulbricht, party first secretary and head of state, arrived by train in the evening.

In the weeks leading to the conference there were reports that Romania was trying to manoeuvre for more independence within the Soviet-led pact.

But secret meetings of the defence and foreign ministers in Moscow have indicated a formula for unity was devised despite some differences.

Bitter attacks against the United States over Viet Nam—especially over the recent bombing attacks in the Hanoi-Haiphong area—were expected.

Some feelers toward the West on reducing tension in Europe appeared probable, although the now-familiar broadside against the dangers of allowing West Germany a access to nuclear arms were likely to be repeated.

Albania, the tiny ally of China in the Peking-Moscow ideological feud, was certain to be discussed at the conference. It has not attended a pact meeting since breaking with Russia.

Unfair, Says Teamster Boss Blames Government, Publicity

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — James R. Hoffa, Teamsters' national president, charged today that anti-labor forces in the U.S. have a "smear" tactic by American news media threaten organized labor in general and the Teamsters in particular.

Hoffa, opening the Teamsters convention with a barrage of verbal fireworks against opponents, is certain to win re-election to a new five-year term and a $95,000-a-year pay raise.

"Powerful forces have banded together to destroy this organization and its leaders," Hoffa said in a report to some 2,200 delegates representing 1,700,000 members of the world's biggest union.

"Enemies of labor work around the clock in their efforts to pass crippling anti-labor legislation, to apply trust provisions to free labor and to curtail our effectiveness at the bargaining table," Hoffa said.

He made no specific reference to his own legal troubles, including jury tampering and mail fraud convictions, except to say:

"My only regret concerning the personal harassment and political vendetta of the last several years is that my family has suffered embarrassment and personal anguish."

MAY GO TO JAIL
Hoffa could be in prison before his new term is far under way if the U.S. Supreme Court rejects his appeal of the eight-year sentence for jury tampering.

His five-year mail-fraud sentence is pending before the U.S. Court of Appeals and probably also will be finally decided before Hoffa is up for re-election in 1971.

To protect his job in case he must serve some prison time, Hoffa and the convention will rewrite the Teamsters' constitution to permit him to appoint a temporary successor and then return to power if freed before his presidential term expires.

Teamsters' sources said convention delegates will vote to increase Hoffa's pay $25,000 to a total of $100,000 a year, in addition to a nearly unlimited expense account he already enjoys.

Kennedy Round Deadline Set Business Opposition Certain

GENEVA (AP) — After four years of haggling, participants in the Kennedy round of tariff-cutting talks now face a 12-month deadline to wrap up the biggest international package in the history of world trade.

The Kennedy round, which aims at a 50-per-cent global cut in all tariffs, began in 1962 when the late president Kennedy pushed the Trade Expansion Act through Congress.

This gave the United States a five-year mandate to negotiate the proposed tariff cuts. The mandate runs out in July, 1967, and chances are slim that the Trade Expansion Act would be renewed promptly by Congress.

There would certainly be active lobbying against renewal of the act, at least in its present form, by some sectors of American business. They might not like certain concessions made by U.S. negotiators during the Kennedy round bargaining.

The feeling here is that if the Kennedy round cannot be brought to a successful conclusion next year, everyone might as well go home.

BOOSTS PROSPECTS
Prospects of success were given a boost last month by a sudden change in the attitude of France, which has put up most of the stumbling blocks in the four years of talks.

One key participant is the six-nation European Common Market, which includes France. Because of French disapproval the bloc has been unable to agree on a joint approach on cereals—a commodity vital to the complex agricultural negotiations.

The Common Market delegates finally reached agreement on cereals at a meeting in Brussels last month. They also agreed on some other key items — mainly aluminum, newsprint and pulp—which threatened to hold up the industrial bargaining.

From the outset, France's veto on Britain's entry into the Common Market split into two rival trading blocs and automatically made the negotiations more difficult.

Economic differences between France and the United States caused a further crisis.

STANDS TO LOSE
Officials here think that French President Charles de Gaulle is being more co-operative because he realizes what France stands to lose if the talks fail.

Failure of the Kennedy round would not just mean that the world has lost a chance to free international trade. Economic experts are convinced it would result in a new wave of protectionism which could set trade liberalization back 20 years.

The two West European trade blocs—the Common Market and the eight-nation European Free Trade Association—will probably arrange some sort of merger in the near future.

This will mean free trade within the area, but a high tariff wall against imports—most of which are from the United States. America would undoubtedly take similar action to protect its own economy and European exports would be hard hit.

Screaming And Kicking, Rioting Women Put Down

TORONTO (CP) — Three women were taken to hospital Saturday night after police broke up a riot among 16 screaming, kicking prisoners at the Mercer Reformatory for Women.

More than 60 officers fought their way through a barricade of broken furniture to the third-floor Protestant chapel where the prisoners rolled and fought on a floor covered with water and blood.

One officer said the clothing of several was torn off and others were armed with pieces of glass they had taken from breaking windows with their hands.

Reformatory Superintendent G. R. Thompson said the prisoners were angered because another prisoner had been taken to an outside hospital for treatment.

He said the woman, who had been taking medicine, was encouraged by the other prisoners to refuse the prescription and demand stronger drugs.

The others apparently thought they could obtain the stronger drugs from her, the superintendent said.

Police said screams from the chapel could be heard more than 100 feet away. The remaining 73 prisoners yelled encouragement from locked corridors to the 15 involved in the fight.

After the riot, four women were taken to Don Jail. The three removed to hospital had deep gashes in their wrists from breaking windows with their hands.

More than 300 panes of glass were broken and furniture was reduced to debris. Office equipment was damaged and fire hoses were ripped from walls, police said.

The seven women removed by police ranged in age from 19 to 30. The others were returned to their dormitories after being subdued.

Officials here think that French President Charles de Gaulle is being more co-operative because he realizes what France stands to lose if the talks fail.

Failure of the Kennedy round would not just mean that the world has lost a chance to free international trade. Economic experts are convinced it would result in a new wave of protectionism which could set trade liberalization back 20 years.

The two West European trade blocs—the Common Market and the eight-nation European Free Trade Association—will probably arrange some sort of merger in the near future.

This will mean free trade within the area, but a high tariff wall against imports—most of which are from the United States. America would undoubtedly take similar action to protect its own economy and European exports would be hard hit.

Ringing Phone Might Be Bad For This Home

By ALJE KAMMINGA

When Norbert Wildemann's phone rings, it could mean disaster to someone in Kelowna. Mr. Wildemann, 21, is a member of the Kelowna Volunteer Fire Brigade and has been for seven months.

"I felt I wasn't active enough in community affairs," he says. "When a fellow employee suggested firefighting to me, I thought this was the chance to do something useful for the people in Kelowna."

He admits the work is tough and the wages no incentive to join.

A Kelowna volunteer fireman is paid $3 for every general alarm and $2 for a silent alarm. The silent alarm is usually not as serious as the general call.

SAME WAGE

The wage is the same for false alarms.

The volunteers get overtime pay after the first hour of fighting a fire.

"You give up a lot to become a volunteer fireman," Mr. Wildemann says. "A peaceful night at home can change into a cold and miserable night fighting a huge blaze."

The phone call you're expecting might just as easily be a call from the fire hall.

The life of those around him is also affected. His wife and his employer learn to accept the fact he is not always where they expect him to be.

Mr. Wildemann is employed at a chain store in the city. He required the store manager's consent before becoming a volunteer.

EMPLOYER AGREED

His employer's signature was required on the application form indicating his agreement to Mr. Wildemann's becoming a fireman.

The next step is gaining approval of the other volunteers. A vote is held among the men on the applicant's qualifications and the value of his joining.

If the application is approved, a six-month testing period begins. The applicant has the same duties as the other men but until the six-month training period is over, he has not yet earned the title of volunteer fireman.

After the six months is over, a secret ballot is held to see if the applicant has "earned the right" to become a member of the brigade.

APPROVAL GIVEN

Mrs. Wildemann gave her approval to her husband joining the fire brigade long before the testing period was over.

"She doesn't pretend to like getting a phone call in the middle of the night," Mr. Wildemann says. "But she accepts the fact it does happen and probably will again."

He says it would be incorrect to say she has learned to live with the fact. "It's more than that," he says.

"She understands that someone has to do it. She has not learned it."

Both Mr. Wildemann's wife and employer understand the fact that "someone has to do it."

If a phone call about a fire is received at the store, Mr. Wildemann's employer calls him into his office and tells him the location. Rarely, is anything else said.

The manager has been exceptional about the whole thing," Mr. Wildemann says. "Never is there any grumbling about lost time or inconvenient times to leave."

In the near future, being a volunteer fireman may appeal more and more to Norbert Wildemann. He expects to be ready at any time of the night for the first ring of the phone.

Why?

Mrs. Wildemann is expecting a baby shortly and her husband expects to be "up most of the night anyway."

THE AVERAGE DAY of a Kelowna Volunteer Fire Brigade member can change into a totally un-average day with the first wail of the city's fire horn.

Norbert Wildemann, a volunteer fireman has discovered this. His job as produce manager of a Kelowna chain store, left, can change suddenly with the report of a fire. He rushes to the fire hall, centre, and in a matter of minutes is ready for action, right. See story left.

SUN VANISHED

Weather Damp But Spirits High

The sunny Okanagan showed its darkest colors for tourists all during the Dominion Day week-end but traffic at the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce visitor information booths indicated their spirits were less damped than the weather.

The holiday weekend was the busiest period for the booths this season.

Attendees said people were not pleased with the weather but all were anxious to know what to do and see and where to go.

About 500 people made enquiries at the booths during the day. A chamber spokesman said the figure was only a small proportion of the actual number of tourists coming into the city.

The spokesman said only a small percentage of people stop at the booths so the actual number of tourists in the city was much higher.

Transportation companies were booked solid during the weekend and Greyhound Bus Lines had nine buses leaving Kelowna Thursday night instead of the usual two.

Figures were not available for the remaining days but officials described the traffic as "exceptionally busy."

Rain cut down traffic at the Kelowna Airport Friday and Saturday but outgoing flights Sunday and Monday were filled to capacity.

A Canadian Pacific Airlines spokesman said larger, 82-passenger planes were used for the weekend.

Motels in downtown Kelowna were almost full Thursday. There was some space available in the outlying areas but increasing traffic indicated most would be filled by the weekend.

Lakeshore motels reported they were filled by Thursday.

A cruise portage of 11 boats and 50 people arrived in Kelowna Friday and left the next day—impressed with the hospitality of the Kelowna Yacht Club and the city.

The cruise was made up of members from southern interior yacht clubs who made the trip to publicize the need for a canal linking the Okanagan and Shuswap Lakes.

Kelowna was one of the stopping places for the cruise, organized by Kamloops officials.

Members of the caravan attended the Kelowna Yacht Club's annual barbecue when they arrived in the city Friday. They also attended a dance after the barbecue while moorage facilities were being arranged for them.

Vernon Smith, yacht club manager, said they left Saturday morning, happy and impressed with the treatment accorded them.

Heavy Rainfall In District Pushes Fire Hazard Down

Heavy rains in the Kelowna district have reduced the danger of forest fires to low—almost nil.

Forest ranger H. C. Hewlett says no new fires have been reported in the district since last week. The total of fires since May 1 is nine. All but one are out.

A fire 10 miles northwest of Kelowna is under control but still being observed.

Favorable conditions also prevailed in the greater part of the province's forest land last week. Hazards remained low to moderate in most area except for Princeton, Merritt, and Penticton in the Kamloops forest district. Almost half of the province's fires were reported in the Kamloops district, of which Kelowna is a part.

Kamloops reported 26 of the 53 fire outbreaks in B.C. The fire hazard there is now reported as low to moderate.

The number of fires burning in the province this week is 35, compared with 41 last week. A total of 59 fires were extinguished during the week.

Firefighting costs for the year continued to run well below the 1965 figures. The estimated total spent this year is $186,900 compared with $456,400 during the same period last year.

The total spent last week was $38,500.

Drying conditions in the southern interior are expected to keep the fire hazard fairly high this week. A general trend towards sunny conditions is expected throughout the province during the week but a return to showery conditions next week should keep the hazard low in most areas.

Kelowna Response Starts For Vernon Band's Trip

Kelowna residents are beginning to respond to the appeal for funds for the August trip to Europe by the Vernon Girls' Trumpet Band.

The Kelowna Daily Courier offered June 14 to accept donations to help the girls take part in the Geneva festival. Reaction at the Courier office on sponse was slow until this week.

Mayor R. F. Parkinson has donated $25 and the Kelowna International Regatta, $100.

The girls will represent the entire Valley and Mayor Parkinson has urged Kelowna to get behind the appeal and help with the expenses involved.

$30,000 TRIP

The Swiss government invited the band to take part in the festival. The estimated cost of taking the 35-member band and its chaperones on the month-long trip is $30,000.

Mayor Parkinson's letter reads in part: "With the Regatta contribution of $100 I trust you will keep mentioning the fund and where Kelowna residents can leave their donations—this would be good public relations between cities."

Anyone wishing to assist the band is asked to leave a donation at The Courier office on Doyle Ave.

The band is to leave Vernon Aug. 7 and return Sept. 10. While in Europe they will perform in Italy, France, the Netherlands and Belgium as well as the Geneva festival.

The band director is R. W. Hodgson, who founded the trumpet group 18 years ago. Since its formation the band has won many awards and honors in B.C., Calgary and in Washington state. The girls range in age from 12 to 16.

The band will perform in Kelowna Aug. 1 during Premier Bennett's Social Credit birthday celebration.

Police Cite Bad Driving In Rash Of Area Mishaps

Damage from 10 weekend accidents in the Kelowna area was estimated today at more than $3,000.

RCMP said the number was "a little above average." They said rain was a factor, but that bad driving was the real cause, with charges contemplated in about 75 per cent of the accidents.

Michael Tataryn, RR 5, Rutland, was taken to the Kelowna General Hospital Sunday when the bicycle he was riding was in collision with a car driven by Wayne Spencer Fuson, North Surrey. The accident occurred at 9:15 p.m. at Harvey Ave. and Glenmore St. Hospital authorities said today Mr. Tataryn had a good night.

MISSED TURN

A car driven by Frank Wostrowski, Rutland, failed to negotiate a curve on the Beaver Lake Rd. at 2:30 p.m. Sunday and ended up in a ditch. Police said the driver swerved to avoid hitting another car and hit a washout causing the car to roll over. His wife and two daughters were checked by a Winfield doctor and released. No estimate of the damage was available.

Brothers Four To Miss Show

The Brothers Four singing group will not appear during the night show of the British Columbia Cup unlimited hydroplane races July 13 to 17.

I. F. COLLINSON . . . hurt in mishap

Traffic Officer Hurt Saturday

Kelowna's 61-year-old special traffic officer is in satisfactory condition in the Kelowna General Hospital today after a motorcycle-car collision Saturday.

Ian Collinson, 1710 Ethel St., was admitted to hospital about 4 p.m. with a broken rib, punctured lung, broken ribs and several contusions.

RCMP said his condition Saturday was fair but has improved.

He was riding his motorcycle at Lawrence Ave. and Ellis St. when he was involved in a collision with a car driven by Tim Prejan, Castlegar.

No estimate of the car or motorcycle damage was available.

J. M. Rigetti Funeral Held

Funeral services were held Saturday for John Michael Rigetti, 85, of Kelowna.

Mr. Rigetti died in the Kelowna General Hospital Thursday.

Born in Austria, Mr. Rigetti came to Balmora, Sask., as a young man. He owned and operated harness and shoemaker shops in Balmora and later in Kamloops. After selling the shop in Kamloops, he farmed in the district for several years. He also farmed in Glenworth, Sask. He retired to Kelowna in 1945.

Mrs. Rigetti died in 1960. Mr. Rigetti is survived by three sons and six daughters: William, in Kelowna; John, Victoria; Joseph, Vancouver; Mrs. Fred Free, Chilliwack; Mrs. Ed Bushby, Mrs. L. Vandergraff, Mrs. Harvey Lutz, Saskatoon; Mrs. William Armstrong, London, Ont.; and Mrs. Andy Cleat, Kingston, Ont.

Rev. E. F. Marth officiated at the funeral service in St. Pius X Church. Prayers and rosary were recited in Day's Chapel of Remembrance on Friday.

Pallbearers were Philip Daum, Siegfried Berger, George Nestman, Ross Rodgers, Jacob Korp and Joe Roth.

LAUNCHING PLANNED

The Canadian Coast Guard weather and oceanographic ship Quadrant will be launched Monday night at Burrard Dry Dock here. The vessel is named after Don Juan Francisco de la Bodega y Quadra, settler of Nootka.

What a way to spend a weekend—thought the Kelowna Yacht Club members as they ate breakfast in their tent and wondered what happened to the famous Okanagan sun. Left to right Mr. and Mrs. Ed Odham, Mrs. Murray Deines and Mr. Deines, all of Calgary. Chamber of Commerce officials said although the weekend was wet spirits were high and the number of inquiries at chamber information booths indicated a heavy flow of visitors during the July 4 holiday weekend. MONDAY, JULY 4, 1966 — PAGE 4

The Law Is Law Until The Law Is Changed

Recently 10 union officials in Vancouver were sentenced to three months in jail for contempt of court. In Ontario farmers have been clogging the highways with tractor "parades". The two incidents on the surface appear unrelated, yet they have one important thing in common. Each was inspired by complete contempt of the law.

In the Vancouver case the law was enforced and now the labor officials are trying to get the sentences abrogated. In Ontario the law has not yet been enforced.

The practice of creating a public nuisance in order to force authority to accede to demands is becoming extremely common. Recently we have seen it in the St. Lawrence 10-shoremen's strike over parking facilities, the dock strike in Montreal when a union member was charged with having liquor in a public place, the Seaway dispute as well as others. And there is every possibility that the same tactics will be used by the CNR employees.

The fall guy is always the same: the public. Most of the people who have been held up or delayed on Ontario highways by tractors travelling at three miles per hour, probably neither know nor care what it is all about. They are just made angry. The farmers, of course, hope that united shouts of indignation will force the hands of the Ontario government.

Once again the public, innocent of any offence, becomes the fall guy. It is high time governments on all levels examined bargaining procedures, whatever their nature.

If the Ontario farmers, travelling on their tractors on public highways at snail's pace, are obstructing traffic, as they certainly are, they are breaking the law and they should be charged, however many of them there are.

They should be charged for, if it is admitted in principle that a private cause, whatever its merits, justifies breaking the law, then we, as a nation and a society, had better look out for the future.

No society survived that failed to enforce its laws. No such society can survive.

The law is the law and as such it must be obeyed. If it is a bad law—and there have been and are bad laws—then the thing to do is to work to have it changed. But until it is changed it is the law and must be respected.

U.S. Tax Advantages

How do Yanks and Canucks compare in personal income tax matters? Various government spokesmen have argued recently that our neighbors have no edge but tax expert John G. McDonald, writing in the Toronto Globe and Mail, says that Americans not only have 30 per cent higher incomes than Canadians, but they also have important tax concessions denied north of the border.

One of their main advantages can be the "joint return" of husbands and wives. A married couple may make a single return jointly, even if one has no income personally, and the tax would be twice the tax imposed if the income were half. As an example of the saving, a married couple with a taxable income of $8,000 could elect to pay twice the tax on $4,000, or $1,380, rather than $1,630. The amount payable in Canada on that income, including the Old Age Security Pension but not the Canada Pension Plan, would be $1,690.

Another advantage enjoyed by Americans is that all interest payments are deductible from taxable income. This covers not only mortgage interest for the home-buyer, but also such expenses as interest paid if buying a car or household furnishings on the installment plan.

In the matter of business income taxes, Mr. McDonald says that in the U.S. there are reasonable expense allowances for small businessmen, while in Canada expense claims are often disallowed unless some income is shown as a direct result of the expense. Other U.S. advantages noted by the Toronto lawyer: "A 22 per cent tax rate on the first $25,000 of corporate profits, with no associated-corporation rule designed to impose 52 per cent tax rates on corporate-grups profits; a three-year carryback of business losses — tax refunds based upon a realistic view of the business cycle, while Canadian law allows only a one-year carryback."

There is no doubt in Mr. McDonald's mind that Canada's income tax law is unfair. "It will stay that way," is his significant conclusion, "until Canadians wake up to the fact that they are being badly treated by their government."

Long-Haired Swimmers

(Hamilton Spectator)

Oh, there is no joy in Beatteland tonight — the sanitation-conscious Hamilton swimming pool officials have decided that long-haired boys should wear bathing caps, just like girls, when they take a dip in city-owned pools.

It's simply awful what they're doing to these Beatteland boys. As one reporter wrote, in a sort of warning to the male long-hairs, "If you want to look like girls, you're going to be treated like girls..." So there!

According to Recreation Director

Florence Meiler, it's a matter of sanitation, not recrimination. Hair in the water clogs the filtration system, she reports, and lotions many of the long-haired ones use cause a greasy film around the pool's sides. Evidently she isn't so sure girls wear bathing caps in order to keep their hair dry.

We're not going to side with anyone on this matter, but we can't help saying that if as much determination was used on keeping the air and the bay water sanitary as is being used keeping the swimming pools sanitary, Hamilton would be the Mr. Clean of Canadian cities.

IN PASSING

It is suspected that Poet Riley, who wrote about being "knee-deep in June," was too lazy to mow his lawn.

To many who know what they like and who like things to have at least a semblance of sense, pop art and op art are flop arts.

Another note of inflation: A person would almost starve today on an income that would have been ample for comfortable living 35 years ago.

— "ENGLISHMAN — WASN'T HE?"

British General Writes About Vital Seven Years War

The fighting in Germany during the Seven Years War of the 18th century, the first war fought on a world-wide scale, is the theme of a book by a British general. This review is by Ted Bullock, a former Canadian newspaper man now living in England. Bullock served in the Royal 22nd Regiment during the Second World War.

Written For The Canadian Press
By TED BULLOCK

A distinguished British general of the Second World War has written a book that is different from all the rest. Lt. Gen. Sir Reginald Savory has ignored the controversial battle of his fellow soldiers of the wars of our times to go back two centuries to the first of all world wars and turn a little — known phase of that epochal struggle, known to history as the Seven Years War, into a classic for our day.

Brith, Canadian and American soldiers have much to learn from Gen. Savory's expert, humorous and thought-provoking book. "His Britannic Majesty's Army in Germany During the Seven Years War" (Oxford University Press).

It is a big work and it will probably be studied in military colleges for a long time to come. There are 469 pages of text, 30 appendices, a glittering bibliography listing 1,131 titles, 114 maps, 114 illustrations and scores of booklets, as well as plenty of maps and text-pictures, a frontispiece and an extremely useful index of 50 pages.

But any reader, even one with little military service, will recognize situations and personalities in war that never seem to change. Gen. Savory has a trick of focusing spotlight upon an 18th century problem that draws it right out of the age into 1966.

SAPPED FRENCH MIGHT

His story tells the far-flung campaigns of the very first world-wide war into their proper perspective around the central theatre of operations in Germany. One realizes for the first time that Louis XV did not lose France's overseas empire at Louisbourg, on Quebec's Plains of Abraham, at Passy or in the West Indies. It was the battles of the Seven Years War in Europe that sapped the military might of France until her colonial defence system collapsed.

Nor was that crucial struggle in Europe the almost sh-gle-handed triumph that so many accounts depict, of the military genius of Frederick the Great of Prussia over two tigerish empires and an all-powerful king of France. Frederick would never have stood a chance but for the long, stubborn fighting of King George II's British and Hanoverian troops in the same part of Germany that is garrisoned today by British, Canadian and American NATO forces.

Gen. Savory's tale begins, as the stories of so many British wars do, with a defeat. William Augustus, Duke of Cumberland, George II's son whom history knows best as the Butcher of Culloden, is soundly thrashed at Hastenbrook in July, 1757, and this is the end of his career.

GIFTED TRIO

King George's forces, English and Hanoverian, are taken over by Ferdinand of Brunswick who also commands subjects of his own, and Ferdinand's British contingents are led by John Manners, Marquis of Granby.

These two remarkable soldiers, often prompted by Ferdinand's gifted secretary and advisor, Edder von Westfalen, have never received full marks until now for military skill of a high order. Brunswick, Granby and Westfalen make their mistakes, as the author makes clear. But they are men of ability, and their deeds and decisions will be studied carefully in the schools of military.

Yet another aspect of Gen. Savory's book will round out for North American readers some long-sid impressions of 18th century history. One meets again in Germany as old friends men whose names are known to us from Wolfe's campaigns at Louisbourg and Quebec. It is interesting to find out that their military careers did not end on the banks of the St. Lawrence.

The Seven Years War was fought between professionals, in the days of professional armies, and the rules of the game were scrupulously observed on both sides.

No writer about combat editorializes less than Gen. Savory. This is why it may be all the more of a shock to find it dawdling upon us, as we read his unadorned recital of actual happenings, that cruelty and perfidy are creeping into warfare in our day in almost exact ratio to the greater ease and luxury that invention, universal schooling and democracy have brought into our civilian lives.

This book conveys, without preaching, valuable lessons in the decency, discipline and honor that were once a way of life among fighting men.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

This Child's Thirst Abnormally Great

By DR. JOSEPH G. MOLNER

Dear Dr. Molner: My seven-year-old grandson drinks an excessive amount of water. He has diabetes insipidus. Can anything be done to correct it? —MRS. B.K.

The child drinks because he is abnormally thirsty. Diabetes insipidus is not related to sugar diabetes, or diabetes mellitus, and it is far less common. However, it is a problem.

Basically it involved a disorder of the posterior part of the tiny pituitary gland. There is a deficiency of a hormone which controls the release of water from the body. Large amounts of urine are passed; the patient, naturally, becomes thirsty as fluid is lost from the body, so he drinks vast quantities. This may amount to gallons per day.

Exactly what causes the condition is not known; evidently it can be hereditary in some cases; others not.

Treatment falls into three categories.

First: The administration of a pituitary hormone called vasopressin (prepared in an oil suspension, and given by injection). Frequency of injections varies quite widely, from one every other day to several in a single day.

Second: Pituitary substance can be made into a sort of snuff, and either blown into the nose, or muffed into the nostrils. This is effective but the drawback which sometimes interferes is the possibility of irritation of the nasal membranes.

Third: A more recent treatment is use of drugs which are effective in reducing swelling—drugs on the order of chlorothalidate. These can be taken by mouth. The age has to be regulated by your physician.

Dear Dr. Molner: I recently read about the 10-year-old girl who wants a pet but her father gets asthma from animals. My father has asthma, too. I got a guinea pig last August and it doesn't bother my father at all. I am also 10 years old, and I keep my pet in a box in our family room.—R.T.

Thank you. What bothers one person may not bother another. One reader suggested a chameleon as a pet.

NOTE TO MRS. E.H.S.: Yes, worry and tension very decidedly can have a great deal to do with a flare-up of colitis.

Dear Dr. Molner: How much water should a person drink a day? Is it possible to drink too much? My mother-in-law drinks a lot because she says it "flushes out the kidneys." I should think too much would be hard on the kidneys.—K.B.

It is possible to drink too much water but in practice it is extremely unlikely, and I have never known a specific case of this in my many years in medicine.

An adult needs about two quarts a day. This varies, depending on how much one perspires, how hard he works, etc. If you are thirsty, two or three times as much is quite reasonable.

This means water in all forms: Soup, coffee, tea, pop, milk, vegetable, and fruit, and even the water in meat, because there's some.

Drinking lots of water helps by keeping the urine dilute and hence less likely to let kidney stones form, or other forms of irritation. If you want to call that "flushing out the kidneys," I guess you can. Plenty of fresh fluids (water) is easier on the kidneys than too little.

OTTAWA REPORT

Last Great Night For Tom Crerar

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

After 49 years on Parliament Hill—as MP, as cabinet minister and as senator—Tom Crerar has bowed out on the eve of his 90th birthday, which he celebrated last week.

Two unusual events marked his resignation from the Senate, which was not prompted by his own age or health.

First, he delivered his now famous swan-song speech, which he himself sub-titled "What I would do if I were Prime Minister of Canada." That was the most perceptive speech heard on Parliament Hill for many a long unhappy year. It was in fact the first speech heard in these past sorry years which rose above the level of scandal and partisan strife, and discussed the great issues of the day which should be the overriding concern of our parliament.

C.A.L.F. CLUB MEETS

Second, on the evening of the day when his resignation took effect, he was paid the well-deserved but perhaps unequalled tribute of being invited as guest of honor at a farewell dinner. I cannot recall any senator or MP or cabinet minister enjoying the honor matching that of the modest meal and immodestly prominent role of hosts on that spontaneous and remarkable occasion.

This was no great party banquet, long prepared and staged, managed by the image-moulders of a political party in the Banquet Hall of the Chateau Laurier Hotel. It was, more simply, the first and the last meeting of what I called "The C.A.L.F. Club," the group of "Crerar's Admirers" and "Longtime Friends."

Apart from the guest of honor, Sen. Tom Crerar, the C.L.F. Club numbered 17. These included five men who had won election to the House of Commons under four different party labels—Liberal, Conservative, CCF and Progressive; five men who had been appointed to the Senate; four who had been appointed to the Cabinet; and five prominent former civil servants.

It also included the dean of Canada's parliamentary writers, now retired, John Stevenson, and other Calfs—such as myself, the only still active member of the Press Gallery. That adds up to more than 18 persons, because some, such as Tom Crerar himself, fell into more than one category.

We met in a private room of Ottawa's famed Rideau Club, where dinner was followed by some remarkable extemporaneous and unreportable speeches—of a calibre seldom approached by today's practitioners of parliamentary debate.

The topics ranged beyond political reminiscences, including for instance a vivid refighting of the battle of Culloden—for strangely enough all the Calfs except two boasted Scottish ancestry. And Tom himself added his quota by describing how his family, a sept of the Mackintosh clan—whose tie of hunting tartan he proudly sported—acquired its name immediately after and as a direct result of that infamous battle and its murderous mopping-up operation.

OLD MEN REMEMBER

Finally the old men—mostly surely drawing the old age pension except Health Minister Allan MacEachen and myself—called it a night and went home. But not Tom Crerar. He gathered a group around him and initiated a post-mortem on "Prime Ministers I have known." He named Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Robert Borden as the greatest.

It was agreed that historians will not rate Mackenzie King highly; it is interesting to note that Tom Crerar sat in cabinet under both Borden and King.

Observing visi bonum, "de mortuis nil nisi bonum," I will not refer to the judgments rendered on Mackenzie King, who nevertheless managed to set up an unassailable record for the length of time he ruled as prime minister.

But Tom Crerar himself set up a record on that last great night of his Parliament Hill: it was not until the club was closed down for the night that he left to be driven home in my car.

SPOKE TOO SOON

MIDDLETON, England (CP) Agatha Pearson, 38, joked when a book fell off a shelf in her Lancashire home. "It's all right, it's only the house falling down." Only 10 minutes later, three of the outside walls collapsed.

CANADA'S STORY

Mackenzie Declined Trip Down Fraser

By BOB BOWMAN

The story about Simon Fraser's trip down the Fraser River in 1808, sometimes described as "the most dangerous journey ever undertaken by man". His courage can be appreciated by comparing his exploit with that of Alexander Mackenzie, who was the first man to cross the continent in 1793.

Alexander Mackenzie was one of the world's greatest explorers. He was only 25 years old when he ran the river to the Arctic that now bears his name. His ambition then became to cross the continent to the Pacific and he went to Britain to prepare for it, including study of navigation.

Mackenzie spent the winter of 1792 at the junction of the Peace River and the Smokey, and began his journey to the Pacific in May, 1793. His men had built a 25 foot birchbark canoe, big enough to carry 10 men and a small dog, with provisions and supplies. It was a terrific job to get up the rivers, swollen by spring floods, and over the Great Divide, where the water flowed west. Some of Mackenzie's men often threatened to desert, but somehow he kept them going.

Finally they reached the great river that Mackenzie felt would take them to the Pacific. He was puzzled because the river was flowing south, not west. Unfortunately he missed the Nechako River which would have led him westward to the Bulkley and the Skeena.

Instead the canoe hurtled southward so quickly that he could not always see where he was going. They were wrecked several times, and had to patch their canoe.

They got down the river to what is now Alexandria while the Indians hurled rocks down the precipices, or fired arrows at them. Mackenzie stopped, produced trading goods, and managed to get some information from them. The Indians advised him to go back up the river, and drew a map showing a trail to the Pacific. (Mackenzie was glad not to risk running the Fraser any further.) He persuaded his men to return, and on July 4, 1793, they reached the Blackwater River, north of Quebec, and began the portage that led to Bella Coola. It was on July 22 that Mackenzie wrote his famous words on a rock "Alexander Mackenzie, from Canada, by land."

Regatta Fashion Luncheons Begin This Week At Aquatic

The first of the very popular series of Regatta Fashion Luncheons, sponsored by the Kelowna Regatta and Aquatic Auxiliary, will take place at the Aquatic at 1 p.m. on Wednesday.

Kelownians and visitors interested in forming their own opinions on who should become the Lady-of-the-Lake have an excellent opportunity of doing so at these affairs, as each week two contestants and two other local models show summer fashions from different stores, stroll informally among the tables while the guests enjoy the delicious smorgasbord lunch.

Everyone is welcome to attend the luncheons which will be held every Wednesday until Regatta, and they provide an excellent way to entertain your out of town guests. Incidentally it is wise to phone the Aquatic ahead of time and reserve a table as, in the past, there have been as many as 110 guests attending one luncheon.

This week Miss Teen Town, Sandi Bearstro, and Miss Gypsy, Gayle Carr will model fashions from Anne's dress shop, and Miss June Carter will be the hostess. See you there.

National Council Of Women Approve Divorce Resolution

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP)—The National Council of Women has approved a resolution asking the federal government to broaden the grounds for divorce to include insanity, cruelty and desertion.

The resolution, passed during the council's annual meeting here, called divorce laws under the Matrimonial Causes Act "harsh and antiquated."

The resolution said the present laws caused many social problems such as common-law unions, emotionally upset children and lower moral standards.

But it suggested any amendments made by the federal government should be accepted by each province at its own option as "every province in Canada may not wish to widen the grounds for divorce within its own boundaries."

Also approved was a resolution recommending that the federal government enact a draft statute of domicile drawn up in 1961 at the conference of commissioners on uniformity of legislation in Canada.

Enactment of this statute would give the married woman a right to her own domicile. Her domicile now is automatically that of her husband, even if she is separated and her husband living in another city.

WANT DRUGS LABELED

The 140 delegates, who represent some 1,800 organizations across Canada, also approved a resolution requesting legislation requiring effective and distinctive labelling of drugs and hazardous household chemicals and registration of the manufacturers of hazardous substances.

An earlier resolution on fire-crackers was amended to request the federal government to prohibit the import, manufacture and distribution of fire-crackers.

Seventh-Day Adventist Church Scene Of Wolfe-Lemky Rites

The Rutland Seventh-day Adventist Church was decorated with peonies and ferns, while ribbons marked the pew ends on Sunday, June 26, at 4 p.m. when Katherine Lemky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lemky of Kelowna, became the bride of Ronald Chester Wolfe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wolfe of Rutland.

Pastor L. R. Krenzler officiated at the ceremony, and Mrs. Matthews, aunt of the bride, sang "Whither Thou Goest" accompanied by Mrs. P. Andrews of Rutland.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a gown of beau de soie fashioned with a bodice and long lilyprint sleeves of French lace. Her floor-length skirt was enhanced by a short train falling gracefully from a bustle bow at the back waistline, and a coronet held in place her chapel length veil of white tulle. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

For "something borrowed—something old" the bride wore a garter belonging to her grandmother.

Acting as maid of honor was the bride's cousin, Esther Lemky, from Williams Lake; the bridesmatron was her sister Mrs. Justine Grav, and the bridesmaid was Miss Ida Wolfe, sister of the groom. All three attendants were charming in similar floor length dresses of aqua beau de soie with boned lace bodices. Their headresses were beau de soie bows covered with aqua tulle, and they carried bouquets of white Shasta daisies.

The best man was the groom's cousin Walter Martins of McBride, the groomsmen were Walter Grav, brother-in-law of the groom from Black Mountain, and Harvey Quering, cousin of the groom from Prince George, and the ushers were the bride's two brothers David and George Lemky of Kelowna.

At the reception held in the East Kelowna Community Hall the mother of the bride received wedding a two-piece suit of yellow linen with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations, and the groom's mother, who assisted her in receiving the guests, chose a dress of pale green Arnel complemented with a white hat and a corsage of white carnations.

Tall white tapers flanked the lovely three-tiered wedding cake centering the bride's table. Daniel Murphy proposed the toast to the bride which was ably answered by the groom, and the best man gave the toast to the attendants.

Out of town guests attending the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lemky from Revelstoke, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Lemky from Pritchard, Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Lemky from Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Pierson from Kamloops, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Neufeld from Vernon, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lemky from Williams Lake and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Neufeld from Williams Lake.

Before leaving on her honeymoon to Mexico the bride changed to a turquoise sheath dress trimmed with boned lace and accented with white accessories.

The newlyweds will reside on Hollywood Road, Rutland.

Surprise Shower Honors Westbank Bride-Elect

WESTBANK—Bride-elect Miss Heather Mackay was honored at a surprise miscellaneous shower Tuesday when friends gathered in the United Church Hall to present her with a multitude of lovely gifts.

Hostesses Mrs. Clayton McGaw and Mrs. Robin Drought were assisted by friends in making the hall gay with streamers and rosettes in a blue and white theme, ready to welcome the guest of honor, who was duly led to the place of honor. There the variety of gifts were piled in a box cleverly modeled to represent a bank—symbolizing the places of business in which both bride and groom elect work; the former in Calgary and the latter in Edmonton—where the bride has been transferred. Plastered with paper money the building was named for the groom—the "Rothwell National Bank," and very soon it was "robbed" by the guest of honor, assisted by her cousins, Myrna and Lori Hoskins. The three, together with the bride's mother, Mrs. W. C. Mackay and grandmother, Mrs. A. C. Hoskins, were presented with corsages fashioned by Mrs. J. N. Basham.

Following the opening of her gifts, which were duly admired, Miss Mackay voiced her thanks to the 45 friends present, and will later express her appreciation to all who, unable to attend, sent gifts to fill the bank to overflowing.

A gay hat was created from bows that had adorned the gifts while the ribbons circled the guests to finally deposit the bride's engagement ring into the hands of Mrs. Woody Truitt. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, assisted by the younger girls present.

Miss Mackay's marriage to Craig Rothwell, of Edmonton, took place Saturday, July 2, at 7 p.m. in St. George's Anglican Church, Westbank, the Rev. Norman Tannar performing the double-ring rites. A reception followed in Westbank Community Hall.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Mackay, of Westbank, and the groom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Rothwell of Eckville, Alta.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Snowsall of Kelowna and niece of the groom, the youngest daughter Susan Felicia, to Gordon Joseph Wolfe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy E. Wolfe of Rutland.

The wedding will take place on Saturday, July 30, at 2 p.m. in the First United Church, Kelowna, with Rev. E. S. Fleming officiating.

Eisenhowers Enjoy Retirement Years

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Like Mamie Eisenhower, looking back over 50 years of married life, have decided "these last years" are the happiest.

For former president Dwight D. Eisenhower it's because he has more time for such things as exploring supermarkets or painting "anything that intrigues me."

For his wife, the former Mamie Geneva Doud, it's because she has a home of her own for the first time since she married a young army lieutenant in the parlor of her mother's red brick house in Denver July 1, 1916.

In a rare joint interview, the couple reviewed their lives together—the moments of tragedy, such as "the death of our first son," the exciting moments "when we saw our first grandchild" and the great moment "when I was inaugurated as president."

Eisenhower called his eight years in the White House "the longest they ever lived in one place—a very thrilling, very exciting, very humbling experience."

He, 75, said he learned from the new paper, that he and Mamie, 69, were the first presidential couple to celebrate 50 years of marriage since John Quincy Adams and his wife, Louisa, reached a similar occasion in 1817.

Girl Guides Camp South Of Mission

The First Okanagan Mission Girl Guide Company camped last week south of Okanagan Mission. Twenty-three Guides slept under canvas, doing their cooking in patrols over open campfires. Theme of the camp was appreciation of Nature, and self-reliance in the outdoors. On Sunday morning they held a "Guides' Own Service" and that evening, after campfire had a short candlelight ceremony.

Patrol inspection was carried out every morning and the patrol winning the most points for the weekend was "The Crooked Hike" under Patrol Leader, Trudy Spitzer. The patrol showing the most improvement in camping was under the leadership of Veronica Blackie. The most cheerful patrol was led by Debbie Dunlop, with honorable mention going to Wendy Osborne's patrol. Margaret Thompson was chosen as the most cooperative Guide camping for the first time.

Camp was under the leadership of Mr. George Mills, with Mr. Jack Hensley as camp nurse. All participating returned home tired but happy.

ANN LANDERS

Wives Should Stand By In Sickness And Health

Dear Ann Landers: I married 18 months ago, for the first time. I was 33 years of age and had had no previous sex experience. My husband is a wonderful man and we get along well together. When I told my friends and family that I wanted a long time for the right man to come along I wasn't kidding.

Last December my husband had an accident which has left him paraplegic. At first the doctors thought it might be temporary, but now we know that his disability is permanent. What I'd like to know, Ann, is this: Do you think we can have a good marriage under these conditions? I don't know. I don't think of a divorce because I know I would suffer great loneliness without my husband. He insists that I am being cheated out of a vital part of marriage and that he would not blame me if I left him. His attitude is typical of his unselfishness.

I can't take the chance of revealing my identity for obvious reasons. Will you please refine this letter and make it publishable? MRS. ANONYMOUS

Dear M: I didn't have to "refine" your letter. It is publishable as you wrote it. I am glad you wrote your marriage vows. You agreed to stay at the side of your beloved in sickness and in health. With the right attitude, you can have a good marriage under these conditions. I don't know. I don't think of a divorce because I know I would suffer great loneliness without my husband. He insists that I am being cheated out of a vital part of marriage and that he would not blame me if I left him. His attitude is typical of his unselfishness.

Easy? Of course not, but certainly not impossible.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband just told me to write to Ann Landers about the problem we are having around here. So here I am.

We have two teenage children, plus one who will be a teenager in a few years. I am 43 years old, but I am young in spirit. Our oldest boy and girl are at the phone-grabbing stage and they both do a lot of taking after supper. When the phone rings during the evening, it's usually for one of them, so I usually don't answer. When they are normal children, I do answer—and this is where the problem comes in.

The children's teenage friends seem to enjoy talking to me. I'm not ashamed to admit that I can talk with them for hours about nothing in particular and I love it! Is this so terrible? My husband seems to think it is. In fact, last night he came right out and told me to act my age.

I enjoy my own teenagers, and I work with other teens at the Red Cross Centre. Teen-agers today are a great bunch and I see nothing wrong in being friendly to them when they telephone. I'd like your opinion.

YOUNG AT HEART

Dear Heart: If a teenage girl specifically to talk to you at 31 with no previous sex experience, either a very low sex drive or lefty tendencies, could you have a good marriage under these conditions? I don't know. I don't think of a divorce because I know I would suffer great loneliness without my husband. He insists that I am being cheated out of a vital part of marriage and that he would not blame me if I left him. His attitude is typical of his unselfishness.

I think it's terrific that you couple of children and a husband to feel so warmly toward you. The action says you can have children's friends, but honestly, a husband's friend of the boy, that the kids really don't phone. I think it's terrific that you couple of children and a husband to feel so warmly toward you.

DOUBLE STANDARD LONDON (CP)—British women, who themselves like "mini-skirts" and open-necked blouses, do not like their husbands in flash suits. A recent survey of 10,000 women by a chain of garment stores found only 23 per cent approved of brightly colored men's suits, and 38 per cent approved of bold patterns, in men's wear.

Orioles Extend Streak Now Leading By 7 Games

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Are Baltimore Orioles about to break open the American League pennant race before it can get started?

The high-flying Orioles extended their latest winning streak to seven Sunday with a 4-2 victory over Minnesota Twins that stretched their league lead to seven games going into today's traditional staging point for the pennant scramble.

July 4 leaders have gone on to win the flag more than 60 per cent of the time. Last year Minnesota and Cleveland Indians were tied for first place July 4, three games ahead of the pack. The Twins took the lead the next day and never lost it again. Baltimore gained 1 1/2 games on each of its closest pursuers—

Detroit Tigers and Cleveland Indians when both dropped doubleheaders. Kansas City Athletics stunned the second-place Tigers 3-0 and swept Cleveland Indians 10-4 while California Angels won Cleveland 10-2 and 4-3, dropping the third-place Indians eight games off the pace.

WIN IN 11TH

New York Yankees nipped Washington Senators 6-5 on Bobby Richardson's 11th-inning homer and Chicago White Sox divided a doubleheader with Boston, beating the Red Sox 3-2 after losing the first game 5-2.

In Saturday's action, Detroit defeated Kansas City 7-3, Washington swamped New York 10-5, Chicago blanked Boston 6-0, Cleveland downed California 5-2 and Baltimore edged Minnesota 6-5 and 3-2.

HANK BAUER
... has Birds in high gear

Russ Snyder, the American League's leading hitter with a .337 mark, sent the Orioles ahead 3-2 Sunday with a two-out single in the seventh inning. Boog Powell and Brooks Robinson each belted his 16th homer as the Orioles won their 10th game in the last 11.

Lew Krausse, Kansas City's former bonus baby, blanked the Tigers for 8 1/3 innings and Jack Aker completed the first-game shutout. Jim Nash, making his major league debut, then held Detroit hitless until the fifth inning of the nightcap but needed relief help in the seventh.

Danny Cater led the Athletics' attack, scoring one run and driving in another in the opener and delivering four more in the second game with a single and three-run homer.

Rick Reichardt drilled his 15th homer in the sixth inning of the Angels-Indians nightcap, tying the score 3-3, and knocked in the go-ahead run with a ground-out in the eighth.

Jim Fregosi, who doubled and scored the tie-breaker, had capped a seven-run rally in the seventh inning of the opener with three-run homer.

Mickey Mantle's eighth home run in his last six games and homers by Hector Lopez and Elston Howard paced the Yankees to a 5-0 lead at Washington. The Senators, however, came back with two runs in the eighth before tying it on Ed Brinkman's three-run homer in the ninth. Richardson led off the 11th with his winning homer off Ron Kline.

The White Sox spotted Boston a 2-0 lead in the second game, then came back as Lee Elia delivered two runs with a single and sacrifice fly.

Two Chicago errors and a wild pitch by Hoyt Wilhelm helped the Red Sox score all their runs in the seventh inning of the opener, overcoming a 2-0 deficit. Carl Yastrzemski's run-scoring single sent the Red Sox ahead. Tommy Agee had given the White Sox the lead with a two-run homer in the sixth.

Quebec Stars Holds Emus To Tie Game

MONTREAL (CP) — Australia's world touring Emu cricket team played to a draw against the Quebec All-Stars at Lower Canada College in Montreal Sunday. Quebec was 149 to the Australians 77 for 5 when the stumps were drawn.

The Emu club had an easy win over the Ottawa Valley Cricket Council side in an exhibition match Friday, but could manage only a draw Saturday. Batting first, the visitors scored 200 for five declared, while the Ottawa team had scored 185 for seven when time ran out.

UNBELIEVABLE SAYS CLONINGER

Pitcher Becomes Tiger Poles 2 Grand Slammers

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

"Do you remember touching the bases," Joe Torre asked pitcher Tony Cloninger as they shook hands at home plate. "I don't remember a single one," Cloninger replied.

Cloninger was flying high as he rounded the bases after becoming the first player in National League history to hit two grand-slam homers in one game while leading Atlanta Braves to a 17-3 victory over San Francisco Giants Sunday.

Summer Hockey Game To Headline Golden Jet

THE GOLDEN JET, BOBBY HULL to attend for second time

In May Bobby Hull won the Hart Trophy as the most valuable player in the National Hockey League. This month Hull should be awarded the "Golden Jet" trophy.

The most exciting player in hockey, Hull has agreed to attend the 1966 midsummer hockey spectacular free of charge.

This year's midsummer all-star game is dedicated to the memory of Bob Giordano, who until his death in October, was "Mr. Hockey" in the Kelowna area. Giordano was instrumental in development of the Okanagan Junior Hockey League and the midsummer spectacle.

The appearance of Hull should insure the success of this year's game just as it did last year's game when the Golden Jet scored four goals. When contacted by Hal Laycoe, a long-time friend of Giordano, Hull took just a few moments to decide to attend the game for the second year running.

Until the 1965-66 NHL season, Hull was a mere super-star. During the past season Hull became a one-man wrecking gang of NHL scoring records.

Hull scored 54 goals in the 1965-66 season to eclipse the standing season's record of 50 goals which was held jointly by Rocket Richard, Bernie (Boom) Geoffrion and Hull himself. Hull also scored 97 points to set another all-time mark, surpassing the total of 96 collected by Dickie Moore with the Montreal Canadiens in 1959.

Hull's blazing slapshot accounted for yet another record. During the past season Hull scored 22 power play goals. Roll all the records together and it's easy to see why Hull captured the Hart trophy for the second straight season.

By winning back to back MVP awards, Hull joined a mighty select group. Only three other players in hockey history have won the Hart Trophy two years running. Howie Morenz, Eddie Shore and Gordie Howe. Eddie we say more?

Winning trophies and establishing records is nothing new for the Golden Jet.

Hull previously won the Art Ross trophy by leading the National League scorers with 81 points in 1960 and with 84 points in 1962. He was previously the league's top goal scorer in 1960 with 39, in 1962 with 50 and in 1964 with 43. He has been voted to the first all-star team at left wing no less than five times including the last three years running. In 1965 Hull won the Lady Byng Trophy as the player who best combines skill with gentlemanly play.

Extra Practise Should Help Canada's Chances At Bisley

BISLEY, England (CP)—Canadian marksmen who start competition in the Bisley meet today finished their final warm-up shoot on a good omen Sunday.

The 18-man Dominion of Canada Rifle Association won its annual match against the North London Rifle Club for the first time since 1959.

At ranges of 900 and 1,000 yards they defeated Britain's top rifle club by 1,054 points against 1,033.

The DCRA's shooting captain, Maj. R. W. Hampton of Alliston, Ont., said after the match this year's team is the strongest he has seen in his 16 trips to the annual two-week competition of British and Commonwealth marksmen.

The team has had 10 days of stiff training and practice at Bisley—four more than in previous years, Maj. Hampton said the extra preparation gives the Canadians a good chance for a strong showing.

They start shooting in minor events today and meet their first major test Friday.

About 1,000 Commonwealth marksmen, mostly from Britain, are shooting for about 150 trophies, medals and prizes in the 97th Bisley meet.

LARGEST GROUP COMPETES

Canada has the largest overseas contingent with the usual three teams—the DCRA group, 12 men from regular army units in Canada and Germany and 12 army cadets.

The service team includes seven men from the Lord

Strathcona's Horse, two from the Royal 22nd Regiment, and one each from the Port Garry Horse, the Queen's Own Rifles and the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps school.

One member of the team, Sgt. Joe Daigle, 25, of the Royal 22nd Regiment will be defending three individual prizes he won last year—the Players Cup, the Service Rifle championship and the Queen Mary Prize.

The top individual events are the Queen's Elimination Prize and the grand aggregate, won last year by RCAF Flt. Lt. Robert Pitcairn of Portage La Prairie, Man.

Canada has won the Queen's prize nine times since it started 106 years ago. The last Canadian to win it was accountant Norman Beckett of Ancaster, Ont., in 1961. Last year the best Canadian in the event was Cpl. Derek Daines of Calgary, who finished 17th. Daines is shooting with the DCRA team again this year.

East Germans Tops At Henley

HENLEY ON THAMES, England (CP)—Along this famous competitive piece of water where one cheers and applauds where one jeers and boos, the talk today is about those amazing East Germans.

And, perhaps, they'll go on talking about them for a long time because they came here Saturday and did what nobody else has done since the Henley Royal Regatta began in 1839. They entered six crews and rowed off with five titles.

It was almost as if the British were merely playing host to everybody. Of nine events open to foreign crews, seven were taken by overseas competitors: potters.

For the second successive year Germany won the grand prize, the Grand Challenge Cup for eight-oared boats. This year it was the East Germans, last year their western neighbors from the famous Kiel - Ratzeburg Club, who didn't come this year.

The TSC Berlin crew outdistanced the American Olympic champion Vesper Boat Club of Philadelphia Friday and Saturday beat the Tidewater Scullers of Britain, considered the finest British eight in the last 15 years to compete for the cup.

CAN'T TOUCH THEM

The Germans set a pace that none could touch and beat the Vesper crew by half a length in nine minutes, 35 seconds.

Of nine crews set by the United States, only one came away victorious. The Harvard University lightweight crew beat the Isis Boat Club of Oxford University in 6:57 by three-quarters of a length to take the Thames Challenge Cup for eights.

The amazing East Germans swept these other events: Olympic silver medalist Achim Hill took the Diamond Challenge Sculls from Holland's European bronze medalist Jan Wisse.

Jorge Luche and Heinz Jurgen of TSC Berlin beat Britons Ray Easterling and Jerry McCarthy by two lengths for the Silver Goblets for pairs without cox.

The coxed four of Dynamo Potsdam easily defeated the Copenhagen Rowing Club of Denmark for the Prince Philip Challenge Cup.

WIN DOUBLE SCULLS

In the double sculls, the TSC Berlin crew of Manfred Hanke and Joachim Bruckhaender beat Britons Nick Cooper and Arnold Cook by 2 1/4 lengths.

The Princess Elizabeth Challenge Cup for schoolboy eights went to Emanuel School of London by 1 1/4 lengths in 6:55 over the Haleson Boat Club of St. Paul's School in Concord, N.H.

The British crew is considered the finest schoolboy crew ever to have rowed in England.

Five New Records Set By Women

FREDERICK, Md. (AP)—Five American women's track and field records were broken Saturday.

Charles Cook, 18, of Los Angeles bettered the record in the 880-yard run with a time of 2:05. She clipped more than six seconds off Marie Mulder's record of 2:11, and completed an difficult double with an American record time of 3:34 in the 440.

The 1,500-metre record was lowered by 16.3 seconds by Doris Brown, 23, of Seattle, who ran the metre mile in 1:20.2.

Pat Van Wolkeleere of Seattle also lowered the American 200-metre hurdle record with a 27.4 in a one-fifth beat. Cheryl de Sab Francis bettered the American record with a 10.7 in the 80-metre hurdle. Jean Winkerson of Toronto finished fourth in the event with a time of 11.2.

Miss Winkerson also finished fourth in the broad jump with a leap of 19 feet 1 1/2 inch. The event was won by Willie White of Chicago who cleared 6 feet 7 1/2 inches.

CANADIAN BALL FANS DO YOU

Remember John Henry?

CALGARY (CP)—The announcement that John Henry Johnson of the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League has been given his release stirred up memories for many Canadian football fans.

In particular, the announcement caught the eye of fans in Calgary, where Johnson played the 1953 season.

George Hunter, sports editor of the Calgary Albertan, had a choice selection of reminiscences about the great running back.

is a hard-charging runner, who as a hard-charging runner, who didn't much care whether he ran around, through or over his opponents. Yet Hunter remembers him off the field as a "quiet, rather introverted youngster with the body of a Greek god."

But on the field Johnson earned his nickname: The Beast.

Hunter recalls the 1953 Calgary Stampeder football club as a remarkably inept collection of athletes. "Had it not been for Johnson," he wrote, "the season would have had nothing to recommend it."

TRICKED DEFENDER

That was the year Billy Vessels played for Darrell Royal's league - leading Edmonton Eskimos. Vessels was honored at the end of the season as Canada's outstanding football player. But most fans have forgotten that Johnson, playing with a poor team, finished only two votes back.

Johnson was more than just a bulldozing runner. He had a change of pace that bewildered most defenders. Hunter recalls a game in Regina when Johnson appeared to be trapped by corner linebacker Bobby Marlow of Saskatchewan Roughriders.

"John Henry slowed his pace as though to step into touch and Marlow relaxed for a split second. That was all Johnson needed. He switched into overdrive, ran right over Marlow and went 30 more yards for a touchdown."

But Johnson had another talent. In 1953, platooning was unheard of, and when the opposition had the ball John Henry simply moved in as a line-backer. Here, too, his brute strength helped.

BROKE TWO JAWS

In the Calgary intra - squad game that year, Bill Bewley, a rookie fresh out of the University of Toronto, found himself in the open with a chance for a good gain. Johnson was nearby, however, and when Bewley ran past, John Henry simply stuck out an arm.

The arm caught Bewley on the jaw. Bill executed a complete flip and came to rest 10 feet away, his jaw broken.

A few years later, the same fate befell Charlie Trippi, the great runner of Chicago Cardinals. Hunter recalls. The whole Cardinal team swore vengeance on Johnson, but nothing ever happened.

Johnson came to Calgary from Arizona State and stayed only one year in Canada. San Francisco 49ers made him an offer in 1954. Johnson accepted. Inter - league raiding in those days was common.

Johnson went on to become one of the greatest running backs in the "fifties" history. He later became the best ground runner Pittsburgh ever had.

He left many memories for football fans, but a special set for Canadians.

CITY OF KELOWNA NOTICE TO RATEPAYERS

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that the "City of Kelowna Zoning By-Law, 1961, No. 2293", being By-Law No. 2293 of the City of Kelowna is now in process of revision, more particularly as follows:

1. To include in the By-Law appropriate regulations for two new zones to be known as "I-2 Industrial District" and "AR-1 Agricultural Reserve", said regulations to be substantially in accord with the draft regulations for these two zones contained in the "Highway 97 Development Study-Part I" dated March, 1966 and submitted to the Municipal Council of the City of Kelowna by the Chairman of the City's Staff Planning Committee under cover of a letter of transmittal dated April 27th, 1966.

2. To rezone all that area of the City of Kelowna lying East of Spall Road and North of Highway 97 to the specific zoning classifications shown on Plan "C" of the "Highway 97 Development Study-Part I" referred to above and described in the Study.

This is the area that became part of the City of Kelowna pursuant to Letters Patent issued on December 16th, 1965 and due to a provision in the Letters Patent the area has retained the Provincial Zoning in effect prior to that date when the area was part of Community Planning Area No. 1. The rezoning now proposed will remove this Provincial Zoning and will apply the City's Zoning By-Law to the area in accordance with the amendment now under consideration.

A sketch map outlining the proposal can be obtained by telephoning the office of the City Clerk at 762-2212.

Details of the proposed By-Law may be seen at the office of the City Clerk, Kelowna City Hall, 1435 Water Street, Kelowna, B.C., Monday to Friday - June 30th, 1966 to July 11th, 1966, between the hours of nine o'clock in the forenoon and five o'clock in the afternoon.

The Municipal Council will meet in special session to hear representations of interested persons at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, July 11th, 1966, in the Council Chamber, Kelowna City Hall, 1435 Water Street, Kelowna, B.C.

Principal Thanks Students And Staff At George Pringle

WESTBANK — Commending the students for their efforts during the past year, principal P. K. Zubick said at the awards ceremony, June 29, that "... most of you will go home happy. You have achieved what you came here to do ..." and in thanking his staff, reminded the students that each one had "... worked very hard on your behalf, as have the custodians, as well as your school secretary, Mrs. Florence Edwards."

Top Awards Presented

WESTBANK — Outstanding achievement awards were presented at the annual awards day at Westbank elementary school, June 29, to Deborah Mackay, Grade 1; Maryann Myllykorpi, Grade 2; Tommy Hiebert, Grade 3; Evonne Brown, Grade 4; and Michael Neufeld, Grade 5. YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW
A good period for systematizing work schedules, handling necessary correspondence and, in general, getting well organized for several active days ahead. Personal relationships should prove extremely congenial.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY
If tomorrow is your birthday, you should find the year ahead not only interesting, but quite profitable from a material standpoint. Both occupational and financial concerns will be governed by generous influences during several intermittent periods, designated below, and, if you set high goals for yourself, and follow them determinedly, by the time your next birthday rolls around you should find all of your affairs in fine shape. Best periods for career advancement: Late January, March and May.

Where finances are concerned, the first two weeks in August should bring some small gains to give your spirits a boost but, between mid-September and mid-November, you should do remarkably well on the fiscal score — especially in October. Next good cycles for increasing assets: Early December, next February, April and June. To attain all the star-promised gains, however, it will be important for you — and all Canadians — to manage and operate conservatively for the next 12 months. Do not even consider speculating — particularly during the first two weeks of September.

It Was Like A Jungle... As Grads Hold Banquet

WINFIELD — The cafeteria of George Elliot Secondary School was decorated in a most realistic jungle theme for the annual banquet of the Grade 12 class June 29.

Members of the class were: Ron Warrington, Maggy Foster, Linda Beck, Bob Reimer, Nancy Land, Ross McCoubrey, Vic Snowden, Sheila Sallenbach, Delorse Tetz, James Ricker, Walter Murray, Helgi Westerberger, Gayle Tamura, Mary Dugate, Wendy Thomson, Doug Broome, Rosemarie Joachim, James Nairne, Shirley Appleton, Marlene Gunn, Glen Gibbons, David Wilson, Gary Clement, Eric Greer, Lorraine Krebs, Theo Hofmann, Deirdre Pothecaray, Jim Snowden, Stan McDonald, Honey Moore, Dan Grindler, Dan Thompson.

Their parents, the staff of the school and special guests also attended the banquet which was prepared by the mothers of the Grade 11 students who had decorated the cafeteria under the direction of Mary Ramsey and Linda Schaumleffel.

Seated at the head table was Mrs. V. Blaskovich, F. J. Orma, Superintendent of School District 23, Mrs. Al Saunders, A. G. Pollard, school trustee, Sheila Sallenbach, who was MC, Al Saunders, guest speaker, Vincent Blaskovich, vice-principal, and Mrs. A. G. Pollard.

The toast to the Queen was proposed by Ron Warrington. Victor Snowden proposed the toast to the school board which lasted 10-20 years in the future. He was answered by Mr. Pollard who brought greetings from the school board, wished the students success in their future endeavors. He then quoted Isabel Mackay "Your school is a legacy for those who come from those who come no more."

The toast to the staff was given by Philip Townsend and answered by Mr. Blaskovich. Miss Dierdre Pothecaray proposed the toast to the school to which Ron Taylor replied saying he hoped they would always keep the school spirit and remember George Elliot with pride.

The Grade 12 class toast was given by Wayne Taiji, student council president for 1966-67, and answered by Ross McCoubrey, president for 1965-66.

TOLD ANECDOTES
The guest speaker, Al Saunders, teacher of industrial arts, was introduced by Eric Greer. He told anecdotes of his childhood and school days. He told the parents "one thing above all other to guarantee success in school was regular attendance." He urged students to "take a good long look at acceleration; it usually doesn't work out."

"I have heard lots of talk of bad teenagers but I don't go for this. I don't find too much at fault with them and find them very honest," he said.

He drew a comparison of "life in your grandfathers' day and what life will probably be like 10-20 years in the future. He said: "What you learn today will be obsolete in 10 years and half of what you will need in 10 years time is not available today so the learning process must be a continuing thing."

"Automation is a bogeyman which scares people but we have always had automation ever since man made the first wheel. The machine will not put people out of work but will certainly change work habits."

"Machines will do the dull work and will create interesting work, the type of work which requires skills."

GOOD CHANCE
For students who are not going on to higher learning, he said, decide what you want to do, for whom you want to work, find out all you can about the place or company and then go after it but before you go get your hair cut, dress neatly, don't smoke or chew gum, shine your shoes, don't tell lies but do say why you want to work there and you'll stand a pretty fair chance of getting the job."

A Side Trip To The Falls For Touring Soviet Delegation

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — The Soviet Union's touring parliamentarians moved into the industrial heartland of Canada Sunday for a quick tour of steel and auto plants, with a look at Niagara Falls thrown in.

The 11-member delegation headed by Soviet Deputy Premier Dimitri Polyansky hopped from Montreal to Toronto by plane and went to the falls by bus in the evening.

They got their view of the falls during dinner at a restaurant overlooking the cataract, then made a brief tour of an Ontario Hydro plant turning out power from the Niagara River.

Today the group splits up for visits to the Ford Motor Co. plant at Oakville and Steel Co. of Canada's big mill at Hamilton.

They go to Ottawa tonight but will be back in southwestern Ontario Tuesday for visits to Toronto and Kitchener.

TOUR EXPO 67
The group wound up a western swing Saturday and flew from Vancouver to Montreal. They spent Sunday visiting the Expo 67 world fair site where Russia is the biggest foreign exhibitor.

They also had a sort of homecoming in Montreal on board the Alexander Pushkin, new Russian ocean liner that inaugurated to Russia-to-Montreal ship service earlier this year.

Agriculture is a main interest for the delegates. Mr. Polyansky is an agriculture school graduate and has demonstrated he is right at home on the farm.

The western portion of the visit concentrated on farming although the party did tour a modern dairy products plant near Vancouver.

"We have been received in Canada in a brotherly way," Mr. Polyansky said in summing up the first week of the delegation's 10-day visit. "That's a graphic testimonial to the de-

Many years ago, part of Canada was missing.

This part.

When you look back, Canada has done a lot of filling in, hasn't it? Take a look at the top map. 100 years ago, the wide open spaces were exactly that. East was east and west was west, and the twin weren't meeting. In fact, the existence of Canada as a nation hung in the balance. That's where we came in: Canadian Pacific.

Our people built a railway. Over plains and hills and rivers and through the mountains. Across a wild land people said could never be lived in at all. When the last spike was driven in 1885, east and west were joined together. Today the nation thrives and grows. It looks forward to a bright future. And today, Canadian Pacific people serve more Canadians in more ways than ever before.

You may think we sound proud of our past. We are. But we're excited about our future. And yours.

Canadian Pacific
Serving you in so many ways.
